

HANDBAG

in blue & orange

This fall is beautiful again.

I ordered a new kind of rectangular handles that fit in the middle of the purse and are glued to the purse and secured with a few tiny nails.

I had to try them on right away and since I was inspired by a walk outside, I reached for orange... this time orange-yellow-blue wool and a solid blue wool that matched the shade of blue in the ball.

I think it's pretty cool :) and what's more... I managed to take very detailed photos of its production, so soon you'll also get a complete guide to its production.

Material inventory

Looped surfaces and belt edges: heather and blue wool

Locking medium: cotton string

Lining: blue cotton canvas matching the color of the wool

Handle: wooden, in natural color

Bottom: reinforced

TIPS FOR YOU

Notice the different looping direction of the lower part. Compared to the body of the bag, it is looped perpendicular to the blue surface, and thus the bag looks more plastic. The bottom is looped with a spiral technique.

Try making your projects special by changing the direction you loop...
